REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Election, Tuesday, November 4, 1884

FOR PRESIDENT,
JAMES G. BLAINE.
OF MAINE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JOHN A. LOGAN.
OF ILLINOIS.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

At Large { C. J. L. Meyer, F. A. Husher

First District—J. W. Ostrander.
Second District—D. C. Van Brunt.
Third District—Joseph Harris.
Fourth District—John Ruehr.
Fifth District—E. W. Arndt.
Sixth District—B. T. Rogers.
Seventh District—W. M. Fogo.
Eighth District—Canute Anderson.
Ninth District—E. L. Browne.

The democrats in Ohio, like those in Maine, will be compelled to dance to the music of the republican party.

There is a friendly feeling between Ohio and Mr. Blaine. "Blaine is going to Ohio in September, and Ohio will go to Blaine in October."

When General Bragg cries to get the nomination for congress in his district, he will learn that instead of the Irish going to h——l as he advised them, they will go for him.

The prospects for the republican ticket are bright in Massachusetts. The republicans there have been working while the bolters have been bragging, and the effect can readily be seen.

The latest gossip concerning President Arthur is that he will be a candidate for the senate after his presidential term expires. If President Arthur starts for the senate he will likely get there.

The independents in New York, those who are too good to vote for brains, conscience and character, would have the circle complete if Oscar Wilde was in this country. He would be an independent.

Cleveland, we mean the city in Ohio, has a prize-fighter who is a woman, and her name is Lewis. She offers to fight any woman for $1,000. Here is a chance for Dr. Mary Walker to distinguish herself.

It doesn't seem to be all bustle about Mrs. Lockwood's candidacy for the presidency. Running the divided skirt business into politics, is not making the women of the United States very enthusiastic for Belva Lockwood.

It has been some ten days or two weeks since the independent, straightbacked and immaculate papers which went over to Cleveland, have said anything about the moral issue. They would rather talk about the weather, or discuss the divided skirt reform.

The democratic newspapers are opposed the Blaine coming west; they think it wouldn't be well for a candidate for the presidency to make a political speech. The trouble is, it wouldn't be well for the democracy if Mr. Blaine should make a trip through Ohio.

Mr. Schurz is still peddling campaign slander for the democrats at the rate of from $150 to $250 per night. He comes up to the democratic expectation. Ananias and Sapphira his wife, could twist the truth pretty well, but Mr. Schurz has the distinction of beating them.

Miss Ella A. Giles, librarian of the Madison library, in the Current of September 20, reports "A Colloquy in a Public Library," in which there is most pleasantly and delightfully presented, by the introduction of types of library patrons who engage in a discussion of fiction literature, the differing views of those who constitute a large proportion of the book readers of the land.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, the able superintendent of the department of legislative work of the National women's christian temperance union, has written a most vigorous letter for the benefit o her fellow-workers in the cause of temperance, protesting against treating prohibition as a national question. It is refreshing in this campaign to see a prohibitionist who can maintain a principle without being a crank.

With the hilarity of the boy who had found a mare's nest, the democrats proclaimed that Hamilton Fish, formerly Grant's secretary of state, had declared for Cleveland. They had twenty-four hours of glee over this, but during the next twenty-four their hope was turned into disappointment, as Mr. Fish wrote a letter to the New York World saying the report that he would support Cleveland was untrue, and that he would vote for Blaine. "One by one the roses fall."

Mr. Hendrick's is taking up a good deal of his time in telling the soldiers how he loved them during the war. But he can't explain why he called the soldiers hirelings in war times, and why he was a rank copperhead. He is also engaged in another piece of business. He is trying to convince the colored voters of Indiana that he has always maintained the deepest respect for them. But why don't he explain the fact that he voted in favor of a bill making it a crime for any colored man to move into the state of Indiana?

American correspondents who are fresh at the business, write from London in a surprising way at seeing members sitting in parliament with their hats on. This is simply a survival of an old and general custom. In his diary, Pepys was much elated when he sat on a committee for the first time with his hat on, and in the statues of the royal society the right of addressing the meeting with his hat on was reserved to the president, the other members being expected to uncover on rising to speak. Instead of being a survival from the days of open-air parliaments it is rather a reminiscence of the long period during which men almost invariably kept their hats on even in church and at the table.

There is a quarrel going on just now among the democrats as to who tells the truth, Governor Cleveland, or Henry Loomis Nelson, clerk to Speaker Carlisle. Nelson is a democrat, of course and that is why the controversy furnishes some amusement. Mr. Nelson says that Cleveland wrote letters to democratic congressmen, urging them to support the Morrison bill last spring. For fearing that certain democrats in Pennsylvania who are protection ists might take offense at the report of Nelson, Cleveland has denied he ever wrote to any congressman on the subject. But Nelson says he did and can prove it. So the war goes bravely on—one faction of the democratic party trying to prove Cleveland is a free trader and another faction trying to prove that he is a sort of a protectionist.

Newspapers which are engaged in publishing the portraits of distinguished persons should not neglect to give us a portrait of Schelling, the coachman, who captured Morosini's daughter's hand and heart. It has been quite easy during the past few years for a coachman to gain national notoriety and secure a handsome purse. All he had to do was to get on the warm side of one of his employer's daughters and under the seducive influence of flattery, secured her consent to run away. Girls of this kind of course, are only half witted and thus fall in misfortune. The coachman becomes famous through his villainy, the girl's family humiliated beyond all measure, and to stop the thing as quickly as possible he is bought up and leaves his foolish wife in shame and takes with himself wide-spread notoriety and a full purse.

The Wisconsin democracy still insists that this state will go for Cleveland, that Iowa will go for St. John, that Illinois is doubtful, and that New York, Indiana, Connecticut and New Jersey are sure for the democrats. Democratic brag is well illustrated by a story an old negro of Texas told in a recent convention in that state:

"De dimocrats, genlmen, dey blows, an' dey blaws, an' dey blows, dey remin's me ob a nigger dat went fishin' onct, an' he caught a great big catfish. An' he run a string throo he gill, an' heftied him to a tree, an' he went on down the stream a fishin'. Presenly anodder nigger come along, and he caught a little bit er catfish, an' he went on up de creek a fishin'. After while de last man he come back an' he pull his string in, and dar was a great big fish. 'My! how you have growed!' he said, 'but I'll take you home.' An' den de odder man he come back, an' he pull his string in, and dar was a little bit er fish. 'My! how you is swunk!' he says. An dat's jis de way wid de democrats befo' de 'lections, but after hearin' from dose states way up yonder, haw dey have swunk."

PROTECTION AND THE TOBACCO INTEREST.

The aggregate value of the tobacco crop of Wisconsin last year was abou two million dollars, nearly one-half of which was raised in Rock county. The crop this year, embracing some 15,000 acres, will probably fetch not loss than two and a half millions at a shilling a pound. It will be seen from this that the tobacco interest in one of considerable importance to the farmers of Rock county, and under proper legislation by congress is bound to become still more important and profitable.

The Gazette desires to say a few words to the growers of Rock county in regard to protecting the tobacco interest. In the first place, the crop can not be made in the highest degree profitable without protection. Under the democratic theory of free trade, or tariff for revenue only, which is one and the same thing, the tobacco crop of Wisconsin would not be worth the raising. Take off the duty, or make it simply nominal, as the democrats are pledged to do, and there is hardly a farmer in Rock county who would dare to throw away his time in tobacco rasing. Why? Simply because it would be an impossibility for the farmers of this state to compete with the coolie labor of Sumatra. It can not be done. There is no labor in the tobacco region of this country, but more especially in the west that can successfully compete with the pauper labor of the West India islands, the states of Central and South America, Cuba, Hayti, Brazil, Peru, the East Indies, and many other foreign countries noted for the extensive culture of the tobacco plant. Throw down the bar of protection, as the democratic party is attempting to do at every session of congress, and as the national democratic convention demanded shall be done, and there is not a farmer in Rock county, who would be foolish enough to attempt to make money out of a tobacco crop.

This is a vital question to the tobacco growers of Rock county. They can not afford to be represented in congress by men who are tinged by democratic free trade doctrine. Manufacturing interests demand protection, and they have it quite largely, and the tobacco interest which is rapidly growing, needs the same protecting care of congress if it shall be made profitable. The whole democratic party—the candidates on all the tickets for an assembly district to the national ticket—are pledged to a tariff for revenue only, a doctrine that is as blighting to every branch of agriculture as it is to every industrial enterprise.

These are some important facts which the farmers of Rock should understand. The eastern tobacco growers are waking up to the importance of defeating the democratic scheme of reducing the tariff on imported tobacco, and the growers of Wisconsin should emulate their example.

HOW GOES THE FIGHT?

Progress of the Great National Quadrennial Engagement.

The Irish-American Meeting in New York—Prohibition in Maryland—Movements of Prominent Men—Campaign Notes.

Irish-American Meeting in New York.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Independent Irish-Americans to the number of several thousand held a mass meeting in the Music hall Tuesday in the interest of Blaine and Logan. The prominent speakers were: John Brannan, of Iowa; Michael Boland, of Kentucky, and Hon. A. L. Morrison, of New Mexico. Resolutions were adopted in accordance with the objects of the gathering.

The Blaine and Logan Irish battery of the First assembly district, New York, marched to the meeting in a body, and on entering the hall were received with immense cheering. The Emmet fife and drum corps and other bands furnished music. A. E. Ford, of The Irish World, presided. He said: "It is a pleasure and an honor to preside at this magnificent meeting. We are called together under the platform of protection to American citizens and American industries, and this great gathering is evidence that we, the men of Irish race, are not owned by any political party. This is the dawning of a new era, of a revolution in American politics."

The following resolution was passed: "The object of this meeting is not to glorify any political party, but to assert the right and the duty of all citizens to exercise their franchise as their consciences direct; to protest against the assumption which would hold the Irish-Americans as the property of the Democratic party; and to demand a comprehensive, dignified, but vigorous American policy which will protect our labor at home and our citizenship abroad. Be it, therefore,

Resolved, That we regard the election of Blaine and Logan as a means to the objects in view, and that we shall labor strenuously, and use every legitimate effort to the attainment of that end.

Among the speakers was Capt. Edward O'Meagher Condon.

So They Support St. John.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—An immense ratification meeting of Prohibitionists was held at Masonic temple here Tuesday night. About 10,000 people were present. The president of the meeting was Summerfield Baldwin, who made the opening speech. The chief oration of the evening was by Robert T. Morrison, a prominent temperance advocate in this city. In the course of his remarks he said: "We cannot support the Democratic candidate because he indorses the whole platform, and talks in his letter of acceptance as to legislation affecting personal rights in such a way as to intimate, without exactly saying it, that anti-liquor legislation affects those rights improperly. This we deny. We cannot support the Republican candidates, because, although the platform, in a vain effort at discretion, observes a total silence on the question, yet both of the candidates have committed themselves, as we think, to a continuance of the liquor traffic—the one proposing to apply the revenue derived from it to the enrichment of the states, and the other proposing to apply that revenue to purposes of public education; in other words, to build a school-house here and there to educate the boys, and to license half a dozen rum shops to destroy them."

Gen. Butler on His Way South.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Gen. B. F. Butler passed through this city Tuesday, on his way to Louisville, where he is to deliver an address at the fair. A salute of twenty-one guns was fired upon arrival of the train. A crowd of several hundred people were assembled at the depot, but no unusual enthusiasm was manifested. The general made a short speech thanking the people for their hearty reception. He will be the guest of Railroad Commissioner O'Donnell while at Louisville.

Prohibition Conference.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17.—At a conference of the Prohibition party of Maryland in this city Tuesday, it was resolved to put an entire state ticket in the field, and at once to recommend that the various congressional districts nominate Prohibition candidates for congress. William Daniel, Prohibition candidate for vice-president, took an active part in the proceedings. Rev. D. B. Newman, of the national executive committee, declared in his address that the Democratic party was the open enemy of prohibition and the Republican was no better, and the speaker believed that if Blaine occupied the presidential chair he would pocket every bill in favor of prohibition.

Hendricks Changes His Mind.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 17.—The Shelbyville Democrats have protested so vigorously against Mr. Hendricks' proposed visit to Columbus, Ohio, on the day fixed for his appearance at Shelbyville that the Ohio appointment will be canceled. Mr. Hendricks says he has attended on "Old Shelby's" day for twenty years with a single exception, and that the Democratic majority always swells after those meetings.

The Indiana Joint Debate.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 17.—Chairman Henderson, of the Democratic state central committee, addressed Chairman New requesting a conference for the selection of additional dates for a joint discussion between the gubernatorial candidates. Chairman New replied that it would be agreeable to meet Mr. Henderson immediately, and it is likely that arrangements will be made for a joint discussion in each congressional district.

Judge Kelley at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 17.—The Republican campaign in Allegheny county was opened Tuesday night at Lafayette hall by Hon. W. D. Kelley, who made a strong protective tariff speech to an audience of about 2,000. In conversation with Kelley he refused to talk about the political outlook, but conversed pleasantly on his late visit to Europe.

May Vote as They Please.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 17.—The Federation of Labor at a meeting here Tuesday night rescinded the resolution which was adopted some weeks ago condemning Governor Cleveland. This action places the organization on neutral grounds, and is the result of a determination to keep politics out of trade organizations in this district.

Later Returns from Maine.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 17.—Verified returns give Robie 78,001, Redman 59,055, scattering 4,445. These are from official returns to the secretary of state except fourteen towns and plantations, which are from other sources. One small plantation only, Jackmantown in Somerset county, is not heard from. This plantation in 1882 voted Republican 9, Democrat 8.

Political News Notes.

H. S. Bennett of the First district, M. Relve of the Second, M. M. Hurley of the Third, W. H. Hart of the Ninth, and J. M. Watts of the Tenth, of Indiana, members of the state Republican committee, have resigned. All are postmasters. This step was necessary to comply strictly with the civil-service rules, which prohibit officeholders from filling such positions. The vacancies will be filled shortly by the chairmen of the county committees of the five districts.

Democratic congressional nominations include John G. Carlisle for the Sixth Kentucky district, C. C. Clark for the Fourteenth Illinois, Col. Louis F. Payne in the Thirty-third New York, and Alexander Graves in the Fifth Missouri. The Republicans nominated Col. John Atkinson in the First Michigan, Lyman Coe in the Fourth Connecticut, George West in the Twentieth New York, and Ira Davenport in the Twenty-ninth New York.

New York city Republicans are preparing to give Mr. Blaine a grand reception.

Fred B. Cobham, deputy United States marshal of Dakota, is in Cleveland representing, as he says, a syndicate of western cattle men who propose to bet $500,000 on Blaine's election.

Gen. Logan passed through Adrian, Coldwater and Sturgis, Mich., Tuesday, and was received by large crowds at each place. Short speeches were made at the points named by Gens. Logan and Alger.

Ex-Governor Oglesby addressed a large mass-meeting at Galesburg, Ill., Tuesday.

Chairman Barnum, of the Democratic national committee, expresses confidence of success in Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, and possibly Michigan.

Hon. Carter H. Harrison was at La Salle Tuesday. He addressed an enthusiastic mass meeting.

Col. William F. Vilas was the speaker at a grand Democratic rally at Baraboo, Wis., Tuesday. He was loudly cheered.

Gen. Thomas Ewing says New York will go Democratic unless Ohio goes Republican in Ohio, of which he has no fear. He says he cannot take the stump, as he is out of politics and his relation to Mr. Blaine and the extreme personal character of the canvass further disinclins him to take an active part.

OUR DISAPPEARING FORESTS.

Meeting of the Forestry Congress—Commissioner Loring's Address.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 17.—The American Forestry congress opened its first annual meeting here Tuesday evening. Hon. George E. Loring, United States commissioner of agriculture, delivered the annual address, announcing the purpose of the convention to be an appeal to the owners of land and the managers of public affairs in behalf of the forest industry of this country. The great problem now studied everywhere is: How can our home industries be most profitably developed? and no industry is more important than that which would protect the forests. Up to the present time the whole business of lumbering has been to a great extent extravagantly and recklessly conducted. Now it is one of the most intricate and troublesome questions presented to the mind of the economist. "How to deal with our forests; how to preserve and restore them; how to plant trees upon waste lands; how to protect them by any form of legislation, are all questions so difficult to settle that I never have been able to ascertain exactly what is the definite policy of any individual, or of any body of individuals."

Dr. Loring spoke favorably of the system of forestry legislation now taking place in Ohio, and of the law passed last winter in this state respecting the Adirondacks and their preservation, he recommended the introduction of similar laws in all states of the union, as tending to promote interests of the whole country in this regard.

LOVE IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Married Folks Who Try to Die but Miss the Connection.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hancock, who have been married but two months, and are well-known in society here, made a determined effort to commit suicide together Monday afternoon, and the matter was kept so secret that nobody but the relatives and physicians knew of it until Tuesday evening. It seems that Hancock, who is a traveling man, returned home in a drunken condition. He and his wife had a scene, in which they indulged in mutual protestations of undying affection, and finally decided that as they could not live as they wished they would die together. They retired to bed and took four ounces of laudanum and chloroform and in a few minutes were unconscious. Fortunately relatives happened to drop in and found them in this condition, and physicians were hastily summoned. Hancock was brought around all right in a few hours, but not until midnight was his wife pronounced out of danger. Tuesday they were both getting along favorably and were heartily ashamed of their attempt to shuffle off.

The Cholera in Italy.

ROME, Sept. 17.—The Italian minister of commerce has telegraphed the presidents of the Bank of Naples and other banks throughout Italy suggesting an extension of time for payment of cheques and other obligations maturing during the cholera scare.

There have have been sixteen deaths from cholera at Tarragona since Sunday.

NAPLES, Sept. 17.—There were 470 new cases of cholera and 167 deaths in Naples Tuesday. In the rest of Italy forty-three deaths occurred, and in the French department of Pyrenees Orientals fourteen deaths.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Daily News states that there were thirty deaths from cholera at Marseilles Monday. This indicates an increase in the epidemic, which has daily been reported on the decrease.

The Odd Fellows.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 17.—There are 400 Odd Fellows, many accompanied by their wives, in attendance upon the sixteenth annual conclave of the sovereign grand lodge Independent Order of Odd Fellows, now being held in this city. The first business session was held Tuesday morning. The following are the officers thus far elected: Grand sire, Henry F. Garry, Maryland; deputy grand sire, J. H. White, New York; grand secretary, Theodore A. Ross, Maryland; grand treasurer, Isaac C. Sheppard, Pennsylvania. Tuesday afternoon the delegates visited St. Paul, where they were tendered a banquet.

Base Ball.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—Tuesday's base ball playing resulted as follows: At Louisville—Louisville 6, Allegheny 1; at Cincinnati—Brooklyn 0, Cincinnati 11; at Washington City—St. Louis 9, Nationals 4; at Chicago—Chicago 17, Boston 0; at Cleveland—Cleveland 12, New York 3; at Buffalo—Philadelphia 4, Buffalo 7; at Detroit—Providence 4, Detroit 2; at Toledo—Baltimore 3, Toledo 7; at Columbus—Athletics 4, Columbus 4—ten innings; at Boston—Cincinnati Unions 8, Boston Unions 4.

Wreck on the Wabash.

CARMI, Ill., Sept. 17.—Tuesday morning the south-bound Wabash freight was wrecked, six miles below this place. The head brakeman was killed, and the engineer and fireman seriously wounded. The train of thirteen cars, with their cargoes of valuable merchandise, and the engine, are total wrecks.

"He Had Got 'Em."

[Texas Siftings.]

"Well, Uncle Rube, how have you been since you came to live down here on the river?"

"Po'ly, marster, po'ly."

"You are not used to living in such an out-of-the-way place, Uncle Rube. You are suffering from isolation."

"Dat's it, sah, dat's it. I'se got 'em. I'se suffered wid 'em mighty bad, marster. I had disrecommembered de name ob de misery. I knowed it wa'nt malaria, or rheumatez, or someding o' dat kind. You struck it de fust clatter, sah. Got a qua'ter 'bout you, sah, to buy some isolation medicine?"

Thousands Say So.

Mr. T. W. Atkins, Girard, Kan., writes: "I never hesitate to recommend your Electric Bitters to my customers, they give entire satisfaction and are rapid sellers." Electric Bitters are the purest and best medicine known and will positively cure Kidney and Liver complaints. Purify the blood and regulate the bowels. No family can afford to be without them. They will save hundreds of dollars in doctor's bills every year. Sold at 50 cents a bottle by F. Sherer & Co.

Time on the Wheel.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 17.—The four days' bicycle tournament under the auspices of the Springfield Bicycle club, opened at Hampden park Tuesday afternoon. The attendance was about 7,000. The outlook for the financial success of the tournament is excellent. The track was in fine condition. The best American records were beaten in the ten-mile amateur by S. Sellers, of England, in 31:07—28 seconds ahead of the record; the two-mile tricycle, E. P. Burnham, in 6:27⅘, and the three-mile professional, by Richard Howell, of England, in 8:38⅘.

Married Fifty Years.

BOSTON, Sept. 17.—Rev. Dr. S. F. Smith, known to fame as the author of the words of the national hymn, "America," celebrated his golden wedding at Newton Center Tuesday evening. He has been a frequent contributor to periodical literature and has written many church hymns. "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" was written in 1832 for a juvenile Fourth of July celebration in Park street church, Boston, by him.

A Fight at Suakim.

SUAKIM, Sept. 17.—Two hundred rebels of the Hadendowa tribe made an attack Monday upon twenty of the local police and fifty friendly Amaras which were bringing in a convoy of women and provisions. The Amaras after a lively engagement put the Hadendowas to flight and captured their horses, mules and camels. Sixty of the attacking party were slain.

IRRESISTIBLE COACHEE.

He Captures Another Maiden of Wealth and High Position.

Gen. Sickles' Pretty Half-Sister Succumbs to the Fascinating John —The Row About It—The Morosini Case.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Miss Roma Sickles, the oldest daughter of Mr. George G. Sickles, the father of Gen. Daniel Sickles, of this city, has long been known as the prettiest girl in New Rochelle. Her father's immense wealth, which is estimated at over $10,000,000, gave her entree into the best society of the little village in which she lived. Besides being her father's favorite, Roma grew up to be the prettiest girl for many miles around. The announcement Tuesday that she had been quietly married in the gorgeous Catholic cathedral in Fifth avenue to William Meade, a coachman, whose sister was employed as laundress in the Sickles mansion, has thrown the village into a wild flutter of excitement. The story as told by the village gossips is that the laundress has used her exortions for many months to bring the couple together. Last Wednesday Roma and Meade were driven over to New York, and up to Fifth avenue to St. Paul's cathedral, where they were made man and wife by the Rev. Father Kelly. After the honeymoon drive Meade left his bride to go to South Manchester. On Thursday Roma's marriage certificate was found by the lady at whose house she was visiting. Without informing the girl of her intention she took the train to New Rochelle and informed Mrs. Sickles of what had happened. On Friday morning the infuriated mother and her friend returned to Brooklyn and the love-sick maiden was bundled back to her home. Since that time she has been almost continually in hysterics, through fear of the anger of her father when he learns of her escapade. Her mother angrily told her that she would shoot Meade when she saw him, and that she herself should be locked up. At last she cooled down, and it was agreed that Meade should be introduced to Mr. Sickles as the girl's intended, the marriage being kept from him. On Sunday last Meade came up and Mr. Sickles was seemingly satisfied. He consulted with his wife, who told him that Meade was worth $2,000, and told the young man to call at his office. The coachman did so, but Sickles was not there when he came. On Monday night he again called at the house, but he did not stay there long, and what transpired is not known. It seems that Mr. Sickles, who is now 54 years of age, long after he was old enough to be a grandfather, married the second time Roma's mother, who was his housekeeper, and Roma herself, when quite a school-girl, formed an alliance with a man named Burns, who was then employed as the family coachman, and her visits to him being discovered, Burns was arrested for a crime. The grand jury refused to investigate him, and he brought suit for false imprisonment, which was compromised by Mr. Sickles. Since then Roma has been kept very strictly within bounds, and as was the case with Miss Morosini, few gentlemen ever saw her. But for the publication in the papers in the morning, which may change all the plans, it is generally believed that it was Mrs. Sickle's intention to have a sham courtship go on for about six months, after which the couple were to be again married, with the addition this time of the usual parents' blessing.

Victoria Victorious.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—It is said now that Mr. Morosini has forgiven his daughter Victoria, and that the family have been reconciled to their daughter and son-in-law. Victoria visited her old home Tuesday, and her welcome was most cordial. When she was leaving her brothers and sister accompanied her to the place where her husband was awaiting her return. The two sons took the brawny hand of their former groom and present brother-in-law, and his new sister Julie saluted him with an inclination of her pretty head. It is understood that after a hearty shake-hands all round and a little kissing, the ex-coachman handed his beaming bride into a car and came to this city. In an interview Mrs. Hulskamp's brother stated Victoria would be welcomed home at any time, but was a little doubtful about her husband. It was rumored late Tuesday night that Mrs. Hulskamp is being shadowed by detectives with a view of obtaining evidence by which she may be placed in an insane sylum.

The Coachman Was a Brick.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 17.—Mrs. P. T. Barnum and Mrs. J. G. Gorham started for a drive to Green's Farms and return. While descending a hill near the depot in the above place, the pole of the carriage broke and the horses ran away. The coachman held on to them for nearly two miles and finally brought them up against a tree. He was quite badly injured, but the ladies escaped unharmed. The horses were wounded and the carriage smashed.

Difficulty Between "Leading Citizens."

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 17.—A very sensational homicide occurred Monday at Warrenton, Ala., in which J. R. Anderson, Esq., shot and killed Pinky Scott. Anderson is the leading merchant at Warrenton, and one of the most respected men in northern Alabama. Scott was also a leading citizen. They had a quarrel, and Anderson drew a pistol and shot Scott twice, killing him instantly.

Trying to Solve a Mystery.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The police and reporters of Brooklyn made an unavailing search Tuesday for Mrs. B. R. Gould, of 176 State street, Brooklyn, which name and address was found in the pocket of a man found murdered near San Bruno, Cal. It is a stylish locality, but there is a mystery to be cleared up, and the police have telegraphed for further particulars.

The Cabinet.

WASHINGTON CITY, Sept. 17.—Secretary Chandler returned to Washington Monday night, and was at the navy department for awhile Tuesday. He will go to Annapolis in a day or two and afterward will probably visit New Hampshire again.

Secretary Teller returned to Washington from New York Monday night and was at his desk in the department Tuesday.

Veterinarians in Council.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 17.—A meeting of the United States Veterinary Medical association was held Tuesday at the Grand hotel, which was attended by a number of distinguished veterinarians from different parts of the United States. Matters of importance were discussed.

Shot at a Man; Killed a Boy.

BELLAIRE, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Tuesday evening Marshal Burke shot at a man whom he had under arrest and missed him, the ball striking William Welsh, a boy about 15 years of age, killing him almost instantly.

After using three bottles, found myself once more a man, completely restored to health, with a hearty appetite, and a gain in flesh of 48 pounds."

The Victims of the Morton Explosion.

PEKIN, Ills., Sept. 17.—Many persons have visited the mill at Morton that was demolished Monday by the explosion of its boiler, killing two persons and fatally injuring three others. An old boiler and an inexperienced engineer is assigned as the cause of the affair. Chris Ackerman, one of the firm, is still unconscious from a fractured skull, and there are no hopes of his recovery. George Lohman, the engineer, is terribly scalded on the face, breast and limbs. The skin came off with his clothes. His shoulder is broken, and he inhaled steam before he was rescued. He is not expected to live many hours. Henry Rossi, another of the firm, had an arm and several ribs broken and shoulder smashed. He is not expected to live.

Opening the Fountains.

In numberless bulbs beneath the skin is secreted the liquid substance which gives the hair its texture, color and gloss. When this secretion stops, the hair begins at once to become dry, lustreless, brittle and gray. Is that the condition of your hair? If so, apply Parker's Hair Balsam at once. It will restore the color, gloss and life by renewing the action of nature. The Balsam is not an oil, not a dye, but an elegant toilet article, highly appreciated because of its cleanliness.

Buckien's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by F. Sherer & Co.

Our Present Blessings.

Our blessings are not appreciated until we are deprived of them. Most notable among them is health, the lack of which magnifies our other burdens. A hacking cough, a severe cold or any throat or lung disease is very troublesome; but all these may be quickly and permanently removed by Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure. Trial bottles free, of Stearns & Baker.

HIS GOOD NAME.

N. C. Thompson's Reputation Stands by Him in His Troubles.

Depositors Express Their Confidence that He will Do the Best He Can—Opinions of the Unfortunates.

ROCKFORD, Ills., Sept. 17.—There has been no run upon the other banks consequent upon the failure of N. C. Thompson's Home bank, and the bank officials are confident there will be none. There are many conflicting opinions as to the ability of Mr. Thompson to pay his creditors in full. If given time, as proposed, some insist that at the best he can not pay more than 50 or 75 cents on the dollar. Others believe that the showing he makes is very accurate and reliable, and that the claims will be paid pretty nearly, if not wholly in full. All seem to unite in the belief that the present course is by far the best and that the creditors cannot but receive greater benefit than if an assignee should be appointed or the persons interested should insist on resorting to the courts. Mr. Lathrop, who is attorney for Mr. Thompson, says: "I am convinced that the claims can all be paid to the last cent. Undoubtedly the safest way for the depositors is to take half their claims in stock of the manufacturing company. That stock is as good as most other corporations of the character in the city. It does a large business, and there is no reason why in time it may not pay good dividends. The other half of the claims can easily be collected from the farmers' notes. The creditors may be assured that there will be serious loss to no one. I do not fear hasty suits or action from the larger outside creditors. They are mostly all business men of good, sound sense and may be depended upon to use the very best judgment. They will realize that to commence suit and push Mr. Thompson to the wall before he can make his collections will be prejudicial to their own interests."

Dr. R. P. Lane said: "All fear of any disastrous circumstances to the other banks, manufacturing establishments and business men seems to be now averted. There will be no panic nor runs on the banks. Good judgment seems to be characteristic of Rockford people. Of course it is a great blow, and its effects will be more or less felt in every enterprise for a long time. It will tend to worry the other manufacturers, especially from outside creditors, as it will make some of them grow uneasy and push their claims with more eagerness than if this had never happened. But I see no reason to fear that they will not all be able to keep their feet, and meet all demands. Of course money will be tight. The banks must necessarily be a little chary of loaning out large sums. Time and a philosophical treatment of the matter on all sides will tide us over safely."

There are numerous instances constantly coming to light in which poor persons, hard working men and women, are the sufferers. Dr. Lane related the instance of a woman who had washed for his family for years. She said: "I had all my savings, $250, there."

"How did you come to put your money there, Mary?" asked the doctor.

"Oh, it was the 8 per cent. interest."

The anticipated excitement among the Scotch farmers when they should hear the news, did not materialize. There is no commotion nor any indication of any. They came to the city, talked over the affair, and returned home saying: "Tompson will do the best he can." Thomas Brown, of Argyle, about the largest farmer depositor, with $24,000 in bank, said: "I am satisfied to do as Mr. Thompson and his friends suggest." Miss Anderson, who has $1,500 placed there—every cent she had—says she has no fears. The heaviest outside creditors so far as can be learned, is the firm of Singer, Minick & Co., of Pittsburg, but the amount can not be learned. Among citizens of Rockford who have assisted Mr. Thompson are J. P. Manny, who has favored his friend by indorsing notes to the amount of $24,000; the Wilkins Bolt-works have $16,000 in claims, and the Trahern estate between $8,000 and $9,000. These who have from time to time aided Mr. Thompson in his manufacturing business are said to be amply secured. Tuesday morning a woman who had just sold her house and lot for $900, and expected soon to buy another, said she had placed it all in Thompson's bank, but she thought he would not cheat her and she would get it back.

W. H. Myers, manager of the mercantile agency of R. G. Dun & Co. here, will not be interviewed in his official capacity, but it is learned that his reports will be a summing up of interviews with a number of the depositors of the bank and others, and will advise strongly against forcing Mr. Thompson into an assignment. He has found very little excitement among home creditors, and the general expression to be that if allowed time to get in his collections everything will be settled with little or no loss, and that all familiar with the circumstances are agreed that Mr. Thompson has taken the most honorable and safest course for creditors and commend him in his action. S. H. Wood & Co., bankers at Minneapolis, have written Mr. Thompson that they will give him any financial aid in their power. It will take a week before a statement can be made. There are probably 1,000 creditors.

Let the Investigation Go on.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 17.—A special to the Herald from Ottawa, Ont., says: "The investigation of the Lyman lunacy case, in which a man by that name is alleged to have kept his wife in Long Point asylum that he might make love to another woman, has brought out sufficient evidence to justify the suspicion that that institution is being used as a place in which parties can have their objectionable friends put out of the way, and maintained at trifling cost. A thorough investigation will be ordered in the management of the asylum by the government, as it is believed that several sane patients are imprisoned at the instigation of designing friends.

Sale of the St. Paul Tribune.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 17.—Late Tuesday evening negotiations were completed by which The Minneapolis Daily Tribune, the only morning paper in this city, changed hands, A. B. Nettleton, proprietor and editor, disposing of the entire concern to Alden J. Blethen, late business manager of The Kansas City Journal, and William E. Haskell, son of E. B. Haskell, of Boston Herald fame. The consideration is understood to have been a sum approximating the original stock, $200,000. The new management will not assume control for several weeks, probably not until after the November election.

An Utterance That Provoked Enthusiasm.

DUBLIN, Sept. 17.—William Redmond, speaking at a league meeting here Tuesday, remarked that if parliamentary methods failed to solve the Irish problem, as surely as God made the earth the people would try other methods. This utterance evoked great enthusiasm.

GRAND OPENING

AT

M. C. Smith's New York Cash Store,

For the Fall Trade of

Ladies' Garments,

consisting of

Dolmans, Sacks, Paletots, New Markets, Russian Circulars

Etc. We have these garments in Seal Plush, Plain and Brocaded Silk, and Plai and Diagonal Bavears.

To sum up the matter in a few words, we shall open on Tuesday, September 2d, 1884, the largest and best assortment of ladies fine garments ever shown in the interior of the state. We gave very large orders July 1st, to three different manufacturers of these goods, in order to have our goods made in the dull season of the year, when good help could be obtained to make garments, consequently our garments are much better made than garments are that are made late in the season when everybody is in a hurry, and manufacturers have to take any work they can get. Our garments are all tailor made, far superior to any that will be found at any other house in the city. It is a well known fact that we have taken the entire lead in the sale of ladies fine garments for the past two years, particularly Fine Seal Plush Sacques, Dolmans and Circulars, running in price from $25 to $75. In these goods we defy all competition.

We propose this year to beat any of our former efforts. We have the goods now ready for sale. Parties intending to buy garments this season the sooner they buy them the better the assortment will be to select from. We have now on hand a full assortment of sizes. Last season we had a good deal of trouble in getting sizes late in the season, and had to wait a long time to get them, and the garments were not so well made at that time of year, as they had to be rushed through.

We defy any house in Janesville to show as fine a stock of Seal Plush and Brocade Silk garments as we have at the present time.

We have just received three tons at one shipment of garments. We are told that we can never sell the amount of garments we have just received. We know we can for these garments will sell themselves. All we have to do is to show them.

Ladies desiring fine garments are respectfully requested to call early before the sizes are broken. Also a large stock of misses' and children's garments just received, very cheap.

Early Type Founding.

In 1683 Joseph Moxon, the earliest writer on the technique of printing, typefounding, etc., published his "Mechanical Exercises," a work often quoted in the typographic literature of to-day.

He was the first English letter-cutter to reduce to rule the art which before him had only been practiced by guess, and left to succeeding artists examples that they might follow. By nice and accurate divisions he adjusted the size, situation and form of the several parts and members of letters, and the proportion which every part bore to the whole.

The only ones noticed by him, were Pearl, Nonpareil, Brevier, Long Primer, Pica, English, Great Primer, Double Pica, Two-line English and French Canon.

Moxon further says: "We have one body more, which is sometimes used in England, that is Small Pica; but I account it no discretion in a master printer to provide it, because it differs so little from Pica that unless the workmen be more careful than they sometimes are it may be mingled with Pica, and so the beauty of both may be destroyed."

Moxon followed the occupation of a mathematical instrument maker, and was hydrographer to the king.

Very Well Put.

Why do we defer till to-morrow what we should do to-day? Why do we neglect a cough till it throws us into Consumption, and Consumption brings us to the grave? DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM is sure to cure if taken in season. It has never been known to fail. Use it thoroughly, according to directions. Persevere till the disease is conquered, as it is certain to be, even if it should require a dozen bottles. There is no better medicine for pulmonary disorders.

A Race With a Shark.

There were about fifty strong swimmers disporting in the sparkling waters of the Narrows yesterday off the old ferry dock at Stapleton, Staten Island.

An old diver, John Taylor, who has been in the service of the Coast Wrecking Company for years, stood on the dock. By and by the swimmers began to scamper ashore and Taylor said "Sharks." Sure enough a shark was after the men, who managed to get safely in. When the spectators were gasping a sigh of relief, however, a cry of horror broke from the diver. He pointed far out over the water on the other side of of the pier. There was another swimmer frisking about all alone in the water, all unconscious of what had been going on or what a terrible foe had been encountered so near. This was a young man named Thomas Kohler. The crowd set up a yell at him and beckoned him back with frantic gestures.

He did not understand at first, and paddled slowly in. The crowd kept up their excited cries, and finally he, although not understanding the meaning of the commotion, started back with all his energy, evidently satisfied that there was some good cause for this solicitude in his behalf. The shark, meantime, had been scouting around the other side of the pier, where he had lost his game by so close a shave, and seemed reluctant to leave so rich a ground. "The shark will get onto him sure," said the diver to the excited spectators. "He's only got to sweep around the end of the pier to head him off as he is on the other side." The situation was now thrilling. The swimmer had at last got at the true situation. He knew there were sharks in the water and as he swam it was noted that he looked apprehensively at times from side to side to learn from which quarter he might expect the attack. His face wore an expression of desperation. A shriek went up from him as he drew near and saw the shark rolling around on the opposite side of of the pier to that he was approaching, he swam for dear life and the crowd encouraged him with its frantic cries and advice.

"It sees him! It sees him!" yelled the spectators.

Sure enough the monster turned about and pointed its nose toward the incoming swimmer. It was apparent that the young man could not reach the pier in time. The shark glided along rapidly and the swimmer, too, was making excellent time. The spectators could calculate that the converging lines on which the two were traveling would meet within a few feet of the dock and there would doubtless be enacted a horrible scene. The diver, Taylor, seemed to take a sudden resolution when it became apparent that there was no escape for Kohler. He took off his hat, coat and shoes and borrowed a long sheathknife from a sailor. He then ran out to the extreme end of the pier, where the shark, it was seen, would pass close by on its course to its victim, who was now near that point. As it came nearer the crowd saw that it was a monster more than eight feet long and one of the shovel nose species.

Taylor is a large man and an expert swimmer. As the shark swept up and was rushing direct for Kohler, turning on its back at the same time, Taylor sprang from the pier with the sheathknife in his right hand. He jumped about eight feet before striking the water. He landed about one foot the other side of the shark. The whole weight of Taylor's body was thrown on the knife, which he plunged as he touched the water, into the stomach of the shark.

Instantly Taylor's arm, the water and shark were almost hidden in blood.

The shark made a terrible plunge and rolled over on its stomach. The shark was at this moment within three feet of the young man, whom the crowd expected to see caught. It then turned and disappeared in deep water. Taylor swam ashore without the knife. "I left it sticking in the cuss," he said.

The True Test.

If a man is hungry within an hour more or less, after a meal, he is a dyspeptic. It shows his stomach is not able to dispose of what he has eaten. But to eat and thus impose more work is an absurdity. Take Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic, which cures dyspepsia and all stomach, liver, kidney and bladder troubles. It is a perfect tonic, appetizer, blood purifier, a sure cure for ague and malaria diseases. Price 50 cents, of Stearn's & Baker.

A CONTEMPTUOUS "CRANK."

The Man with the Five-Shooter Committed, Although Non-Committal.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 17.—The unknown crank who was arrested Monday night for prowling around the residence of Mrs. Garfield, had a hearing before Judge Hutchins at the police court Tuesday morning. The usual questions as to his name, residence, etc., were met with evasive answers. When asked whether he intended to shoot Mrs. Garfield or hurt any one he replied that he might or he might not. After half an hour's useless questioning by the prosecutor, Judge Hutchins took him in hand and gave him to understand that he must answer the questions put to him, and proceeded himself to put some of them. The "crank" laughed and informed the judge that he would answer as many of the questions as he liked, and according to his own pleasure. The judge told the prisoner he would commit him for contempt unless he gave satisfactory answers, to which the crank replied, "all right, commit. I would as soon be locked up as to answer any of the questions you have asked." The judge then ordered him committed for contempt until Thursday next.

Mr. J. H. Rhodes, a personal friend of the Garfields, says that he has seen the man before, and that he is from an eastern city, the name he did not choose to give just at present. The prisoner is about 30 years of age.

The city seems to be getting a corner in "cranks." Besides the one mentioned above, another arrived Tuesday at the sheriff's office who gave his name as Daniel McSweeney, and asked for protection against two detectives that he claimed were hunting him down in order to turn him over to some religious sect. He claimed to be a professor of mathematics in Notre Dame university, Indiana, and other similar institutions in Louisville and Galveston. He also showed letters to that effect.

The Disaster at Eufaula.

EUFAULA, Ala., Sept. 17.—The charred remains of Michael Pickett, the general superintendent, and Thomas Wiggins, a negro, were Tuesday found among the ruins of the cotton compress which was the scene of Monday's explosion and fire. These increase the number of corpses removed from the ruins to five. A few charred bones and a little collection of ashes were all that remained of Pickett. Near at hand were his watch, a silver coin, and a revolver, all more or less melted and charred. During the progress of the conflagration the discharge of the revolver was plainly heard, but at the time it was not known who it was. Engineer Oakes, who was near Pickett when he perished, says that they were both running for the door, when a wall fell, burying Pickett up to the chin. Oakes made a futile attempt to extricate him, Pickett in the interval begging him to cut off his head and end his misery, but he was finally obliged to leave him to save his own life, which he did by good fortune. The boy Wimbush, who was taken from the ruins during the progress of the fire, is dead, and several others will unquestionably succumb to their injuries.

Pay Your Premiums to the Right Man.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 17.—Charges are made against Adolph Langsdorf, a well-known insurance broker, that he has received premiums on certain policies he had taken out for customers, and instead of paying them over to the local agent of the insurance companies appropriated them to his own use. It is stated that he was some time ago agent for the Citizens' or some other insurance company of New York, but latterly doing business mostly through third parties as a broker or solicitor. The custom in such cases is for the insured parties to pay their premiums to the brokers who, after deducting their commissions, turn over the balance to the local agent of the company. In this manner, it is said, one man paid Langsdorf a $30 premium and another took out a $30,000 policy, neither of which was accounted for or reported. Mr. H. P. Gray, the general agent for the Citizens' Insurance company, for which Langsdorf has had some policies issued, says that Langsdorf acted merely as the agent of the assured and his actions cannot bind the company.

Pools Within Pools.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—At a meeting of the general managers of the western roads, to consider the plan for the settlement of the tripartite and other western railroad complications, the committee appointed by the general conference, Aug. 3, decided to recommend that four pools be formed, two for business east and two for business west of the Missouri river. One of these is to include Colorado and Utah traffic, and the other California business. This would involve the description of the tripartite alliance. The plan also contemplates the formation of minor pools under the control of the general pool management. These proposals were under consideration by the general conference. No conclusion was reached, and Tuesday afternoon an adjournment for the day was taken.

The Ohio Colliery Troubles.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 17.—Everything in the Hocking valley is quiet and peaceful except small disturbances occasionally, and at Buchtel, where considerable excitement exists over the general election, by the consable, of the tenants and ex-miners. One of the ejected states that they tendered the operators' rent in advance, but he says the company are bound to break up the Knights of Labor and other organizations to protect labor, and have adopted this means to bring it to a crisis sooner. The most destitute miners have been furnished tents by Adj. Gen. Finley for temporary shelter.

Hay Fever.

For Hay Fever: I recommend Ely's Cream Balm. It entirely relieved me from the first application; have been a sufferer for ten years. Going from home and neglecting to take the remedy, I had an attack; after returning I immediately resorted to it, and found instant relief. I believe, had I begun its use earlier, I should not have been troubled. J. COLLYER, Clerk, 118 Broad St., Elizabeth, N. J.

My brother Myron and myself were both cured to all appearance, of Catarrh and Hay Fever last July and August. Up to this date, Dec. 25, neither have had any return of these troubles. Ely's Cream Balm was the medicine used. GABRIEL FERRIS, Spencer, N. Y.

FOR DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, Depression of Spirits and General Debility, in their various forms; also as a preventative against Fever and Ague, and other intermittent Fevers, the "FERRO-PHOSPHORATED ELIXIR OF CALISAYA," made by CASWELL, HAZARD & CO., New York, and sold by all druggists, is the best tonic; and for patients recovering from Fever and other sickness, it has no equal.

Ayer's Ague Cure stimulates the action of the liver, cleanses the blood of malarial poison, and rouses the system to renewed vigor. Warranted to cure fever and ague.

Lincoln as Postmaster.

Very few people, probably, are aware that Abraham Lincoln was once a postmaster at a country settlement called New Salem, near Springfield, Ill. In rummaging among some old papers in the post-office department the other day, the documents showing a settlement of his accounts were found, and by reference to the records it appears that on the 7th of May, 1833, when he was about 24 years old, he was appointed to succeed Isaac Christman as postmaster, and filed a bond of $500, with N. Alley and A. Trent as sureties.

He served from that date till the 30th of May, 1836, but it was more than six months before his accounts were settled, there having been a dispute with the auditor of the treasury, who finally decided in Lincoln's favor, and a draft for $208.36 was sent to him in care of the postmaster at Springfield, Ill.

The postoffice at New Salem was abandoned, and the people at the crossroads were compelled to go to Springfield for their mail, else Lincoln might have served longer in the post.

His compensation for nearly four years amounted to only $345

SALT RHEUM

And Every Species of Itching and Burning Diseases Positively Cured.

ECZEMA, or Salt Rheum, with its agonizing itching and burning, instantly relieved by a warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, and a single application of CUTICURA, the great Skin Cure. This repeated daily, with two or three doses of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the New Blood Purifier, to keep the blood cool, the perspiration pure and unirritating, the bowels open, the liver and kidneys active, will speedily cure Eczema, Tetter, Ringworm, Psoriasis, Lichen Pruritus, Scalled Head, Dandruff, and every species of Itching, Scaly, and Pimply Humors of the Scalp and Skin, when the best physicians and all known remedies fail.

WILL MCDONALD, 242 Dearborn Street, Chicago, gratefully acknowledges the cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck face arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to move except on hands and knees, for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless, permanently cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

CHAS. HOUGHTON, ESQ., lawyer, 28 State St., Boston, reports a case of Salt Rheum under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

F. H. DRAKE, ESQ., Detroit, Mich., suffered untold tortures from Salt Rheum, which appeared on his hands, head and face, and nearly destroyed his eyes. After the most careful doctoring and a consultation of physicians failed to relieve him, he used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and was cured, and has remained so to date.

MR. JOHN THIEL, Williamsburg, Pa., writes: I have suffered from Salt Rheum for over eight years, at times so bad that I could not attend to my business for weeks at a time. Three boxes of CUTICURA, and four bottles RESOLVENT, have entirely cured me of this dreadful disease.

Sold by all druggists. Price: CUTICURA, 50 cts.; RESOLVENT, $1; SOAP, 25 cts. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass.

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood. If this is neglected, the disease perpetuates its taint through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Purulent Ulcers, Nervous and Physical Collapse, etc. If allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Is the only powerful and always reliable blood-purifying medicine. It is so effectual an alterative that it eradicates from the system Hereditary Scrofula, and the kindred poisons of contagious diseases and mercury. At the same time it enriches and vitalizes the blood, restoring healthful action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great is composed of the genuine Honduras Sarsaparilla, with Yellow Dock, Stillingia, the Iodides of Potassium and Iron, and other ingredients of great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known to the medical profession, and the best physicians constantly prescribe AYER'S SARSAPARILLA as an Absolute Cure

For all diseases caused by the vitiation of the blood. It is concentrated to the highest practicable degree, far beyond any other preparation for which like effects are claimed, and is therefore the cheapest, as well as the best blood purifying medicine, in the world.

Lincoln as Postmaster.

Very few people, probably, are aware that Abraham Lincoln was once a postmaster at a country settlement called New Salem, near Springfield, Ill. In rummaging among some old papers in the post-office department the other day, the documents showing a settlement of his accounts were found, and by reference to the records it appears that on the 7th of May, 1833, when he was about 24 years old, he was appointed to succeed Isaac Christman as postmaster, and filed a bond of $500, with N. Alley and A. Trent as sureties.

He served from that date till the 30th of May, 1836, but it was more than six months before his accounts were settled, there having been a dispute with the auditor of the treasury, who finally decided in Lincoln's favor, and a draft for $208.36 was sent to him in care of the postmaster at Springfield, Ill.

The postoffice at New Salem was abandoned, and the people at the crossroads were compelled to go to Springfield for their mail, else Lincoln might have served longer in the post.

His compensation for nearly four years amounted to only $345

PUT YOUR HAND

In a vice, turn the screw until the pain is all you can possibly bear, and that's Rheumatism; turn the screw once more, and that's Neuralgia. Such was the definition of these two diseases given his class by a Professor in a medical college, and he added: "Gentlemen, the medical profession knows no certain cure for either." The latter statement is no longer true, for it has been proved time and again that

ATHLOPHOROS

WILL CURE BOTH!

C. F. Tilton, Freeport, Ill., Engineer on C. & N. W. Ry., writes:

"Have been troubled with Rheumatism fifteen years, and have been confined to the house four months at a time. Have used two bottles of ATHLOPHOROS and seem to be entirely cured. I cannot say too much for the medicine."

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed.

—General Hazen missed his calculations on the frost appearing "throughout Wisconsin" last night.

—Remember the meeting of the Chautauqua circle at the residence of Mrs. C. T. Wright this evening, at 7:15 o'clock.

—Richard Barry and Martin Geogan were sent to jail for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, the former for two, and the latter for five days.

—Captain B. F. Moore will drill company B, Blaine and Logan Invincibles this evening, at their armory on River street. A full attendance of members is requested.

—The heavy wind storm of Monday night make a wreck of the tents, and many balloon buildings on the state fair ground. The tent belonging to the Janesville machine company went down in the gale.

—Little Augusta, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mantahe, residing on academy street, fourth ward, died yesterday afternoon, and will be buried to-morrow afternoon in Oak Hill cemetery.

—The "I'll-let-you-hit-me-if-you'll-let-me-hit-you" sparring match did not draw a very large crowd to Lappin's hall last night. In fact the house did not pay expenses, and the sparring was a very poor piece of work.

—The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Addy, recently from Philadelphia, died last evening, aged nineteen months. The remains of the darling little one were placed in a metalic case, and will be taken to Philadelphia for burial.

—The Union club will give a social dancing party at Apollo hall on Friday evening of this week. Anderson's band will furnish the music. Parties holding invitations to the former parties of this club are invited to attend.

—The republicans in this vicinity are very anxious that the leaders arrange for a grand Blaine and Logan demonstration that they may have an opportunity to show up a procession two to one that of the democratic parade on Saturday night. The arrangements for such a demonstration will be made as soon as good speakers can be secured.

—The republican state central committee has assigned Ogden H. Fethers, Esq., of this city, to speak at the following points: Monroe, Friday, September 19; Portage, Thursday, September 25; Oshkosh, Friday, September 26; Appleton Saturday, September 27; Fond du Lac Monday, September 29; Eau Claire, Tuesday, September 30; Sparta, Wednesday, October 1; LaCrosse, Thursday, October 2; Darlington, date not fixed; Mineral Point, date not fixed.

—The Cleveland and Hendrikx club of this city are making arrangements to attend the torch light procession in Beloit on Tuesday evening of next week, and have arranged with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company to carry the club down and back for fifty cents per man, provided two hundred and fifty will buy tickets. Those who desire to go on this excursion can leave their names with Mr. E. V. Whiton, or with Frank Shorer, at as early a date as possible.

—A double team, attached to a heavy wagon, made things lively on West Milwaukee street this afternoon, shortly after one o'clock. They came down the street like Jehu, making a short turn at the corn exchange square, upset the wagon. The horses, with the remnants of wagon, went flying into the alley way in the rear of the Myers block, and every one rushed to the spot, expecting to see a couple of dead horses piled up in that narrow thoroughfare, but were surprised to find the team quietly resting at the rear of the American express office Damage nominal.

—The Beloit Free Press is so accustomed to hurrah for Beloit, or anything that smacks of the Line City, that the editor is often seized with momentary fits of insanity, and looses all control of his lead pencil. He witnessed the great democratic demonstration in this city on Saturday night, and on his return home, he rushed into his office and penned the following: "The chief feature of the procession was the delegation from Beloit, numbering close on to, if not quite 275 uniformed torch bearers. While we sincerely regretted the political perverseness of those of our fellow citizens who composed this delegation, still, as they went marching by, and as we compared them with the balance of the procession, our city pride compelled us to say 'Hurrah for Beloit!' in which ejaculation many Janesvillians heartily joined." The Free Press should have added "and Rockton" after Beloit, and then his pent up feelings would have given expression to a more truthful "ejaculation," oh.

—A good story is told of a prominent democrat of this city being forced to take a back seat. Our prominent democrat, when talking politics, is never very choice in his language when referring to the republican candidates, and is even willing to offer bets when he is convinced that there are no republicans in his hearing in the habit of betting. The other evening he was in a group of politicians, talking over the situation, when a quiet republican stepped into the circle and remarked that he had just arrived from Chicago; that in the afternoon he called at the Palmer house, and while there he heard a republican offer to bet one hundred dollars on Blaine in each of the states of Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, and Indiana, and five hundred dollars that Blaine would be elected president, and that no one dared to take the bet Our prominent democrat straightened up, and with his familiar oath, remarked that he would like to find that republican, he would put up the money on that statement. The quiet republican, pulling out his pocket book, said, "Here is the money, and I am the man that made the statement." Prominent democrat left the group to see a man around the corner.

Friendly Hornets.

Climbing up on the roof of a house in the first ward, one hot morning last week was noticed a man, bare-headed, and without a coat, evidently intent on some mission not apparent to the casual observer. At the foot of the ladder stood his wife, patiently awaiting results. The neighbors said they smelled fire, and passers-by, stopped on the walk, and watched for the first indications of smoke. After reaching the roof of the kitchen, our friend prepared to go higher, and slowly commenced to ascend towards the gable end of the main roof. As he neared the top of the ladder, his attention was attracted to a mud formation, about the size of a peach basket, attached to the peak of the house. As he stopped to reconnoiter, his wife said, "My dear, why don't you go on? the leak is in the roof, and not in the end of the house." About this time a little yellow winged, and gaily attired insect, commonly called a hornet, emerged from the basement of the mud tenement and started out on a tour of inspection. The first object of interest that caught the eye of the wide-awake little insect, was the man on the ladder; with a cordiality, for which the hornet is noted, he immediately started out to entertain the morning caller, inviting several other members of the family to join in the friendly greeting. For genuine hospitality, and a warm reception, a healthy family of hornets are without a rival. As the residents of the mud domicil, in the first ward, swarmed out in the morning sun, it was evident that they were in the best of health and spirits, and willing to do anything reasonable, for the entertainment of morning callers. The man on the ladder concluded to go below, he had never practiced gymnastics in the hook and ladder company, and his ladder wasn't built just right for rapid transit, but the time he made in gaining the ground has never been surpassed. As he landed, in the arms of his wife, she said, "My dear, you seem to be in a hurry; did you discover the leak in the roof?" "Yes," he answered, but I hav'nt time to repair it this morning."

The hornets are still in possession, waiting for the next victim.

What man has done, man can do. So what Athlophoros, the great specific for rheumatism and neuralgia, has wrought for others it can accomplish in the case of any suffering mortal. Many people think because they have suffered so long they must suffer on, suffer ever. Let them take hope from the case of Mr. Chandler Wilhams, of Bingham, N. Y., who, after twenty years of almost constant pain found relief in Athlophoros.

Stealing Fruit.

For some time past fruit growers in the city and vicinity have suffered greatly from the inroads and depradations of boys and young men who have been in the habit of making nocturnal visits to the orchards and graperies, and despoiling them of the fruit. Last week a fruit grower residing outside the city limits, discovered two of these unwelcome visitors in his grapery helping themselves to a supply of his fruit, and immediately entered a complaint against them in the municipal court. The young men were brought in to-day and plead guilty to the charge, and a fine of seven dollars and costs was imposed on each of them, and not having the necessary funds on hand to liquidate the bill, each was sent to jail for fifteen days.

It is hoped that this may prove a warning to certain others who have been engaged in this kind of vandalism, as they are liable to be apprehended and made to suffer the consequences of their misdeeds.

Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts are natural flavors, obtained by a new process, which give the most delicate and grateful taste. They are of great strength and bottles contain half more than those purporting to hold the same quantity. We conscientiously commend Dr. Price's Flavors. His vanilla flavor is delicious.

The Church of Christ.

The convention of the Church of Christ of the state of Wisconsin, will be held at Center, Rock county, September 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th and 28th, 1884. An interesting programme has been arranged for each day's session. Rev. Milton Wells, and C. C. Fisher are the general superintendents of the meeting. Basket dinners Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The convention of the C. W. B. M., of Wisconsin, will be held at Center, on September 26th, commencing at 10:30 a. m., and continuing throughout the day, for which a programme has been published giving the order of exercises.

The War-Worn Veteran Surprised.

Another holder of a part of a ticket 15365, drawing $75,000 August 12th, in The Louisiana State Lottery, collected his money yesterday. Mr. Louis Seymour presented his ticket, drew his check and was perfectly cool and pleasant. He is a native of Memphis, was at the battle of Shiloh under General Beauregard. His health, impaired in the army, was much worse, and he came here to benefit himself, and he has worked on the World's Fair buildings in New Orleans. He has stuck to it steadily for nearly five months. He believed in luck, and never failed to purchase a ticket in The The Louisiana State Lottery.—New Orleans Picayune, August 16th, 1884.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. INDIA'S JUGGLERS.

Two of their Tricks Shown to be Frauds.

The Mysterious Basket in Which a Child Is Murdered — The Famous Mango-Growing Trick Exposed.

[Hon. John Swift in San Francisco Call.]

The one class who interested me particularly in India was the jugglers. I have always had a fancy for prying into the secrets of prestidigitation, and I lost no opportunity of seeing these slight-of-hand gentry at their tricks, and found occasion to witness many of their performances in different parts of India. My investigations lead me to state positively that the most remarkable stories told about them are fictions, based upon the flimsiest foundation of fact. The great majority of people like to be deceived in such matters, and will shut their eyes to palpable evidences of fraud, while travelers who eagerly seize upon every chance to pad their narratives with sensational points naturally throw a veil of mystery around the tricks of the Indian jugglers.

Let us take, for instance, the two performances that have been most frequently and most marvelously written up—that is to say, the mysterious basket and the mango-growing tricks. I have seen both of them over and over again, and have found the same easily detected frauds to exist in every case. The baskets are boll shaped and have a false bottom between which and the exterior wall of the basket there is ample room for a small child to stow itself away. The spectators are not allowed to touch, or even to come very near to the basket, and at a casual glance at the interior one is not apt to detect the false bottom. The basket is placed over the child, who squats upon the hard ground, and after sufficient time has elapsed for the youngster to crawl into its place of concealment, the juggler horrifies his audience by passing his sword through the basket, and then upon upsetting it, shows that the child has disappeared. Meanwhile a duplicate child that closely resembles the first one enters upon the scene from the background, and the wonderful trick is completed.

The famous mango-growing trick is even sillier than this. You have of course read how a man of mysterious arts plants a mango seed in a flower pot and then makes a dwarfed fruit-bearing tree spring up from that seed. The facts of the case are simply these: The seed is planted and the pot is then placed under a sort of tent, whose voluminous folds must not be touched by any but the juggler. The latter then waters the earth in the pot and does a lot of manipulating while his hands are concealed in the tent. Meanwhile a fellow-juggler is performing a series of other tricks to amuse and distract the attention of the spectators. When juggler number one has had time to change the pot for another that is hidden in the folds of the tent, he opens one side of the canvas a little and the second pot can be seen with a half-grown mango tree in it. After another interlude of the same sort the tent door is again opened and a third pot is disclosed, which contains a little tree bearing a mango. The whole thing is such a weak attempt at deception that a person after studying it once or twice can only wonder if any one has ever been really deceived by it. I almost enjoyed the palming performances of the clever jugglers, for their skill and rapidity of action were something extraordinary, but their materializing tricks were such palpable absurdities that there was actually no fun in detecting them.

A Hotel in the Sea.

[Cor. New Orleans Times-Democrat.]

A Beyrout, Syria, correspondent says: The situation of the hotel where I am stopping is especially charming. It is built over the water, so that the sea actually passes under the rooms. There is a long, glass inclosed balcony looking seaward, from which one never tires of surveying the blue Mediterranean beyond and below. There is always variety in the movements of the sea. Now its swash is so gentle and soothing that it is the most effective of lullabies when one wishes to fall asleep. Again, the sea is in an uproar, and the spray leaps up to the very windows. The illusion that we are actually at sea is quite hard to shake off at times. The fish have learned to watch for the refuse that is committed to the sea from the hotel galleries, and are consequently very tame. Portly-looking fellows a foot or two long come right under the balcony and stare up importunately at us. The temptation is very strong to make them atone for their temerity, and not a few have been hauled up with rod and line to the broad veranda. One day somebody got up more enthusiasm than usual and cast a torpedo from the balcony into a school of inquisitive marine beauties. A boy sprang in after the explosion and brought three fat fellows to the surface. Many others were stunned, but not sufficiently to keep them from evading the swimmer. Nets are also cast in front of the hotel, and many bushels of fish meat captured.

The shore along here is very rocky, like that at Haifa, Jaffa, and even along the margin of Galilee. After each storm masses of salt are formed in the depressions in these rocks.

Street Car Spotters.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

"One night I noticed that, after a lady had left the car, there remained on the seat she had just vacated a white slip of paper. Not knowing that it might not be of importance, I went in and picked it up, and may I never knock down another—that is, may I be blessed if it wasn't punched full of pin holes, and when I counted them they tallied with the clock. The dainty dame, who had her hands so modestly in her muff, had pricked a hole in a card for every fare that entered. I couldn't be mistaken, you know, for the card was a trip slip.

But take a good spotter and he keeps the whole register in his head and requires no memoranda. I knew a dude, however, who was a counter on a New York line for which I worked, and he rode with me very frequently. I noticed that it was always at the busiest time, and that he was almost perpetually chewing candy. Why, the smell of the peppermint lozenges in that car was a caution. Well, at last I got onto him, for by the big car book, he chewed a lozenge for every fare; and, knowing how many he had when he started, and counting how many remained when he left, there was only a small sum in subtraction, and he was up to the number of people carried."

Dog-Trading in Georgia.

[Waynesboro True Citizen.]

A year or so ago a young man of this county pitched a crop, and his capital was a cur dog and a horse. He, seeing that his capital was short, swapped his valuable dog for another cur and a small amount of boot, and so on, until at the end of the season his horse was fat, he had several hogs in his lot and a few bushels of corn in his crib, leaving his crop clear of all expenses, but his dog had dwindled down to a rat terrier.

So Wags the World.

[The Century.]

Junk dealer (to pin and needle vender)—There's that Jinny gone and married a jailburrd, and her faythers that mad he won't spake to aythor of thim. Sure whoy should he moind? says I. Thim paupers is nearly jailburrds thimselves. It's little differ I can see betwane 'em.

Footman (to housemaid)—Now think of a junk-dealer h'objecting because his darter's been and married a pauper. It's b'all in the mud together they h'are, thinks I.

Shop-girl (to clerk)—The airs the servants give themselves. Jane Bryan won't look at that fine junk-dealer, and he's a handsome fellow, too, and earns as much as she does. He owns his shop at any rate, and she works for a mistress; he's plenty good enough for her, I am sure.

Petty Tradesman (reading his paper)—Tut, tut, what foolish pride is creeping in among the lower classes. Here is a case of a girl disowned by her family because she married a coachman. And she was only a shop-girl serving customers at Macy's. Well, well, what is the world coming to!

Eminent lawyer (to friend)—Now, already, the bigotry of some people is perfectly astonishing Brown is in business for himself in a small way, after having been a clerk for twenty years. And now he has actually refuses to give his daughter to young Smith, his book-keeper. Says his position unfits him to look at her. Ambition will be the ruin of this country.

Young English Baronet (to ditto)—Aw, yahs, I believe pwofessional men do object to their daughters mawwying men in business. Cahnt see why m'self. If ye don't b'long to the nobility, y' know, ye b'long to the middle classes, and I sh'd fahncy it wouldn't make much diffewence who she mahwied, pwovided it wasn't in the lower classes.

Princess of royal blood (to another princess of royal blood)—I really don't see why Lady Hauteur should object to her son's marrying that pretty American girl. To be sure she is a commoner, but he is only a baronet; not even a lord. Now it was quite another thing when the Princess Louise married a subject. That shocked me, I will confess, and yet I'm not so very conservative.

Chorus of angels in Heaven—Lord, all men are equal in Thy sight. How long, O Lord, how long before pride, ambition, and envy vanish from the earth? Poor sinners all, forgive them, Lord, and send us to minister to them, we beseech Thee.

Held on Too Long.

[Wall Street News.]

They laid out a new town in Dakota last fall and called it Golden City. A Chicago speculator who was out there took 500 lots at $5 apiece, and in thirty days the price of city lots had gone to $25 each. Some one built and opened a saloon, and the figures jumped to $50. A second saloon went up, and city lots changed hands at $75 apiece. The Chicago man was advised to sell, but he concluded to hang on for a few more saloons. It was only about a month ago that the snowdrifts melted so that any one could get into the new town. The Chicago man's agent showed up to find the place deserted by human beings, but on a tree was a sign, reading:

"Sell you the whole —— city for $10. Fellows begun to drew lumber for a church, and the saloons moved to Red Gulch, fifteen miles west."
